Canada Visit Visa

Overview

The Canadian visit visa is designed for foreign nationals who wish to visit Canada for tourism, sightseeing, visiting friends and family, attending a conference, or engaging in other short-term non-work-related activities.

The eligibility criteria for a Canadian visit visa may vary based on your nationality, the purpose of your visit, and other factors.

Generally, you must demonstrate ties to your home country (such as a job, property, family, etc.) to prove that you intend to return after your visit and that you have no intention of staying in Canada beyond your authorized period.

Benefits

The duration of stay allowed on a Canadian visit visa is typically up to six months. However, the immigration officer at the port of entry will decide the actual length of your stay based on your travel plans and other factors.

Canadian government has recently announced that due to the labour shortage in Canada, people on a visit visa may be able to convert it to a work permit, if they find an employer who provides them a genuine job offer and is willing to support them to convert their status within Canada.

Eligibility Criteria:

The applicant should be able to meet following requirements:

1. Strong ties to home country
2. Clear and genuine purpose of visit
3. Financial capacity
4. Travel history
5. Letter of invitation
6. Comprehensive itinerary
7. Employment verification
8. No criminal history

Timeline:

The processing time for a Canadian visit visa application can vary depending on various factors such as your nationality, country where you're applying from, current application volume, and the time of year.

It's advisable to apply well in advance of your intended travel date.

We will need seven (7) working days after receiving all documents to prepare and submit your visit visa application.
